The first motion picture epic to deal with the Reconstruction South since D. W. Griffiths made motion picture history with "The Birth of a Nation" back in 1915 is "The Texans," which will open Sunday at the Paramount theater.

Although no period in American history is more filled with color, action and romance than the days following the War Between the States, when a victorious North tried to rule the defeated Southern states as conquered provinces, it has been almost an unploughed field as far as Hollywood is concerned. While the brooding pre-war period has been pictured many times, recently in "Vespeel," and the war itself even more often, "The Texans" is the first epic production in more than twenty years to depict the most thrilling aspect of all, the south's titanic struggle for liberty and self-rule after Appomattox.

In tracing the fortunes of a typical Texas family, beginning with the return of the men from battle in 1865, "The Texans" symbolizes the tragic and moving story of the entire south during the post-bellum years. At the head of the cast, Joan Bennett is a tempestuous Dixie belle, who refuses to submit to northern rule and insists that the "great cause" is not lost, while Randolph Scott is a homecoming Confederate soldier, who devotes everything to the building up of a new Texas on the ruins of the old. Although Miss Bennett is all for starting a new uprising, Scott convinces her that she should devote her energies to constructive work, and together they lead a great cattle cavalcade through the wilds of Texas and Oklahoma into thriving Kansas, where the new railroad provides them with a ready market for their steers.

All the tragedy of the reconstruction period is revealed as the picture unfolds. A group of the most miserable men ever to appear on the American scene, the carpet-baggers, descend on a prostrate land and rule a proud people for their own profit. Aristocratic families are reduced to poverty, private lives are invaded and even private property is confiscated by corrupt officials who can never get enough loot.

"The Texans" boasts a supporting cast of some of film's best-liked players.

Announced as the first of Jane Withers' 1938-39 pictures, "Keep Smiling," which opens tonight at the Luna theater, finds the delightful star in what Associate Producer John Stone confidently predicts will be the grandest surprise-hit she's ever made.

"Everybody on the set knew we had a hit," Stone said. "Long before the picture was finished, I can't tell you why, but somehow everyone connected with the picture—cast, writers, cameramen and crew—sensed that we were going over the top with a big picture."

"Jane felt it, and I think the rest of the cast took their cue from her, because they all turned in fine performances—with Jane herself better than she's ever been. And the story offered her the widest possible range for her talents. Because, in addition to some of the most hilarious comedy ever written for the screen, it has a poignant, heart-warming quality that really gets under your skin."

Gloria Stuart and Henry Wilcoxon head the cast, which includes Helen Westley, Jed Prouty, Douglas Fowley and Robert Allen.

The story, according to Stone, opens with Jane in a fashionable girls' boarding school, hocking her clothes to raise the fare to Hollywood, where she plans to visit her movie-director uncle, whom she has never seen. Upon her arrival in the film colony, Jane discovers that her uncle has taken to drink, has been deserted by his fair-weather friends, and can no longer get a job. In her efforts to rehabilitate him, she crashes a big studio—and lands a job in the movies herself. When the hot-headed director on the set where she is being coached for stardom suddenly "blows up," Jane's uncle, now working as an extra, is given the chance to take over, with his old crew cheering "his, come back and the girl he loves right by his side."

Scourdoughs Hold Reunion; Portland

Portland, Ore., Sept. 3.—(UP)—A $100 piano hauled over by Chilkoot pass brought $1,800 in Dawson during the Klondike gold rush was a tale told by a woman today at the Scourdoughs' reunion. Mrs. Bill Huson went to Juneau in 1894, and was a bride by the time the 98 gold mad crowds scrambled across the Dyea trail over Chilkoot pass to Dawson.

Now Bill had a piano made in Hongkong for which he paid $10. Mrs. Huson related today during the 10th annual gathering of the Alaska-Yukon international Scourdoughs organization. She figured the earning capacity of that music box would be stupendous in Dawson, so she prevailed upon her husband to take it there.

The Husons and two men dismantled it at Dyea. Mrs. Huson untwined the precious mechanism in yard. They joined the gold-seeking chain of humanity that weaved across the frozen snow. They tagged it eight miles in 25 days. It took them two agonized days to get across Chilkoot pass.

When they finally reached Dawson, the piano was still in good condition, thanks chiefly to the yarn wrappings.

"We were sick and tired of the sight of it then," said Mrs. Huson. "Bill Emerson had a new singer at his northern saloon and he wanted the piano and when he offered us $1,800 we sold out."
